THOMPSON STREET CAPITAL PARTNERS ACQUIRES CLINICAL OPERATIONS CRO

ST. LOUIS (August 12, 2016) – Thompson Street Capital Partners (TSCP), a private equity firm based in St. Louis, announced today that it has acquired a contract research organization (CRO) providing outsourced product development services to pharmaceutical, biotechnology, and medical device companies. The company will become a part of TSCP’s growing Clinical Research Data Group (CRDG). Terms of the transaction were not disclosed.

This Clinical Operations CRO provides outsourced services including preclinical assessment, clinical development, clinical pharmacology, translational medicine, medical writing, and regulatory submission and lifecycle management in support of global pharmaceutical, biotechnology, and medical device companies.

Jim Cooper, Managing Partner, TSCP, said, “We’re pleased to add the capabilities of this Clinical Operations CRO to our Clinical Research Data Group platform. This acquisition strengthens the CRDG’s ability to serve its customers via an expanded menu of services. We are excited to continue growing this platform, while maintaining our businesses’ focus on industry-leading quality and customer service.”
