Target Niches

Thompson Street Capital Partners invests in niche leaders across a variety of industry sectors to accelerate their growth – creating value for founders, management teams and our investors. The following non-exhaustive list highlights some of our current niches of particular interest for new platform investments.

SOFTWARE & TECHNOLOGY

APIS & LIBRARIES	AVIATION DATA & TECHNOLOGY*	B2B INFORMATION SERVICES	B2B ONLINE MARKETPLACES	B2B PAYMENTS*
Providers of APIs, libraries, web services, and other development resources for application and system software.	Providers of software, data and technology-enabled services into the aviation market.	B2B information services companies collect, process and disseminate mission-critical information that enables clients to perform key functions effectively and in a timely manner.	Software & technology platforms that connect suppliers and users of specialized products, services, or mission critical data through two-sided networks.	Technology solutions that enable electronic payments for B2B transactions.
The resources required to build secure, scalable, and maintainable software across industries and applications will become more important as digital technologies drive an increasing share of economic activity. Moreover, software development and architecture principles often argue for modularity and the separation of concerns. Trusted providers who focus on critical foundational technology such as APIs and libraries will be uniquely positioned to benefit from these trends.	Providers of software, data and technology-enabled services into the aviation market. An increasing number of aircraft and flights, coupled with a projected shortage of pilots, is driving the demand for data and technological advancement throughout the aviation industry to gain operational efficiencies and promote safety.	The proliferation of data is creating new opportunities for enhanced data-driven decision making. Whether for market share, operational benchmarking, pricing or other functions, timely, accurate data is necessary for companies to remain competitive and maximize operational efficiencies. In addition, the cost of acquiring and maintaining the right data is high, driving an increased need for dedicated providers of mission-critical data and information.	Online marketplaces are increasingly replacing manual intermediaries with scaled, specialized two-sided networks that serve as digital platforms to more seamlessly connect suppliers of specific goods, services, or data to consumers in needs of those specific goods, services, or data.	Electronic payment solutions prove superior to legacy, check-based methodologies, which can be expensive to process, slow, error prone and labor intensive. While electronic payments have already transformed the consumer payments market, the B2B payments market has yet to transition, generating a significant market opportunity for B2B payments technology solutions.

CLOUD ENABLEMENT	INSURTECH SOLUTIONS	NONPROFIT SOFTWARE	SUPPLY CHAIN SOFTWARE
Providers of professional and managed services for the public cloud.	Providers of software, data and technology enabled solutions for the property and casualty insurance market.	Providers of software and technology enabled solutions that help nonprofit organizations, education institutions, associations and corporations manage their donors and members, fundraising activities and operations.	Software and technology solutions that drive improved speed, accuracy and efficiency across supply chain operations.
Enterprises are rapidly migrating away from legacy, on-premise IT infrastructure models to private-, public and multi-cloud platforms to minimize costs, maximize performance and improve security. Businesses are increasingly turning to cloud experts to migrate, modify and manage their applications in the public cloud.	The evolution of the P&C market from a slow-moving, people-driven model to a technology enhanced ecosystem has necessitated the creation of numerous technology services and platforms focused on key business needs. However, the lack of coordination or market consolidation amongst carriers has driven little unification or cooperation from these various platforms. These dynamics have led to a proliferation of targeted, point solutions that are critical to their customers and that could be highly complementary if consolidated into one platform.	NPOs are constrained by limited budgets and the need to continuously fundraise to achieve their missions. Software solutions built for NPOs provide the necessary tools to manage and engage with donors and members, maximize fundraising efforts and drive operational efficiencies.	The shift from offline to online commerce, the "Amazon Effect" and heightened labor challenges are creating an ecosystem of technology providers helping to drive efficiency across supply chain operations. These technology-driven solutions help optimize the production of goods, provide end-to-end visibility throughout the supply chain, support faster, more accurate order throughput and drive more efficient delivery of goods.

PRODUCTS & SERVICES	LIFE SCIENCES & HEALTHCARE
FRANCHISORS*	HEALTHCARE PAYOR SERVICES*	IVD COMPONENTS*	POST-ACUTE TECHNOLOGY SERVICES
Franchisors that operate with a high percentage of franchised locations and provide meaningful operational services and systems to their franchisees.	Technology solutions and services enabling cost containment and plan administration for direct and indirect payors of healthcare costs.	Providers and manufacturers of high-quality reagents and other inputs for the production and development of both molecular and antigen-based in vitro diagnostic (IVD) products for a wide range of indications and end markets.	Software & tech-enabled services to post-acute care providers in alternative settings.
Franchisors provide economies of scale, brand awareness and other critical services that enable franchisee owners to focus on the growth and profitability of their businesses within local markets.	Healthcare payors are responding to the increasing cost of medical care by more closely managing episodes of care and chronic conditions. In addition, the expansion of government coverage and increased access to commercial healthcare insurance is further highlighting the need to manage costs, improve outcomes and optimize healthcare delivery.	The recent pandemic, coupled with rapidly evolving science surrounding diagnostic technologies is driving the need globally for high volumes of specific, consistent, and validated components for diagnostic applications.	As healthcare continues to shift from hospitals to alternative sites, tech-enabled outsourced solutions provide critical services to alternative site-of-care providers. Niche solutions enable economies of scale, efficiency and regulation adherence, and are poised to benefit from macro shifts in the healthcare industry.

*TSCP has partnered with executives capable of playing strategic or operational roles to pursue acquisitions in these identified niches.
