The following non-exhaustive list highlights some of our current niches of particular interest for new platform investments.

SOFTWARE & TECHNOLOGY
AVIATION DATA & TECHNOLOGY*	B2B INFORMATION SERVICES	B2B ONLINE MARKETPLACES	B2B PAYMENTS*
Providers of software, data and technology-enabled services into the aviation market. Providers of software, data and technology-enabled services into the aviation market. An increasing number of aircraft and flights, coupled with a projected shortage of pilots, is driving the demand for data and technological advancement throughout the aviation industry to gain operational efficiencies and promote safety.	B2B information services companies collect, process and disseminate mission-critical information that enables clients to perform key functions effectively and in a timely manner. The proliferation of data is creating new opportunities for enhanced data-driven decision making. Whether for market share, operational benchmarking, pricing or other functions, timely, accurate data is necessary for companies to remain competitive and maximize operational efficiencies. In addition, the cost of acquiring and maintaining the right data is high, driving an increased need for dedicated providers of mission-critical data and information.	Software & technology platforms that connect suppliers and users of specialized products, services, or mission critical data through two-sided networks. Online marketplaces are increasingly replacing manual intermediaries with scaled, specialized two-sided networks that serve as digital platforms to more seamlessly connect suppliers of specific goods, services, or data to consumers in needs of those specific goods, services, or data.	Technology solutions that enable electronic payments for B2B transactions. Electronic payment solutions prove superior to legacy, check-based methodologies, which can be expensive to process, slow, error prone and labor intensive. While electronic payments have already transformed the consumer payments market, the B2B payments market has yet to transition, generating a significant market opportunity for B2B payments technology solutions.
IT SERVICES	INSURTECH SOLUTIONS	SUPPLY CHAIN & INDUSTRIAL SOFTWARE
Managed and professional service providers supporting digital transformation efforts across cloud enablement & IT infrastructure, enterprise application ecosystems, and data management. Companies of all sizes are rapidly undergoing digital transformation efforts to modernize their IT infrastructure and critical applications while also harmonizing disparate sources of data. Businesses are increasingly turning to IT experts to migrate, modify and manage their critical IT assets.	Providers of software, data and technology enabled solutions for the property and casualty insurance market. The evolution of the P&C market from a slow-moving, people-driven model to a technology enhanced ecosystem has necessitated the creation of numerous technology services and platforms focused on key business needs. However, the lack of coordination or market consolidation amongst carriers has driven little unification or cooperation from these various platforms. These dynamics have led to a proliferation of targeted, point solutions that are critical to their customers and that could be highly complementary if consolidated into one platform.	Software and technology solutions that drive improved speed, visibility and efficiency across supply chain and manufacturing operations. Mounting labor shortages, increasing complexity across supply chains, and inflecting automation adoption are creating an ecosystem of technology providers helping to drive operational efficiency across the manufacturing, warehousing, and transportation of goods. These technology-driven solutions help optimize the manufacturing process, provide end-to-end visibility across the supply chain, and support faster, more efficient movement of goods.

Franchisors provide economies of scale, brand awareness and other critical services that enable franchisee owners to focus on the growth and profitability of their businesses within local markets.	Technology solutions and services enabling cost containment and plan administration for direct and indirect payors of healthcare costs. Healthcare payors are responding to the increasing cost of medical care by more closely managing episodes of care and chronic conditions. In addition, the expansion of government coverage and increased access to commercial healthcare insurance is further highlighting the need to manage costs, improve outcomes and optimize healthcare delivery.	Providers and manufacturers of high-quality reagents and other inputs for the production and development of both molecular and antigen-based in vitro diagnostic (IVD) products for a wide range of indications and end markets. The recent pandemic, coupled with rapidly evolving science surrounding diagnostic technologies is driving the need globally for high volumes of specific, consistent, and validated components for diagnostic applications.	Software & tech-enabled services to post-acute care providers in alternative settings. As healthcare continues to shift from hospitals to alternative sites, tech-enabled outsourced solutions provide critical services to alternative site-of-care providers. Niche solutions enable economies of scale, efficiency and regulation adherence, and are poised to benefit from macro shifts in the healthcare industry.
